essential, but currently there is mass confusion about enforcement by local police. Most departments do not realize that a Federal law passed in 1996 already allows them to take corrective action. That is why many cities and states are already training their officers for enforcement. The local political will and funding must exist to set this into motion since it is not happening on a Federal level.

Now picture yourself as an illegal alien in an America where the existing laws are enforced, border patrol is allowed to do their job, employers are fined if they hire you, benefits have been severely restricted or completely cut off, and the local police are now involved and have the authority to arrest you on sight. Do you think you would be getting the message? Absolutely you would! There could be no question as to what action you must now take. Leave the U.S. as quickly as possible.

A final touch should be the declaration of English as America's national language. New laws must be passed that prohibit government agencies and businesses from catering to Spanish speakers. Legal immigrants should be required to have some command of the English language. Current bilingual services are provided at a tremendous cost to American taxpayers. Consumers are specifically required to aid and abet illegal aliens. All legal immigrants to America should know how to speak our language! English should be our official national language. If we no longer cater to the needs of those who can not learn or refuse to learn English then they too will get the message and soon leave our country. Major corporations are presently the worst offenders. I don't know about you but I'm mighty tired of pressing 1 for English. Illegal aliens will have trouble finding employment and services. They know if they are deported that getting back in will be more difficult than ever and when they are caught by police for crimes such as drinking and driving or driving without a license they are immediately placed in the deportation line and local officers are sent to their residence to determine the status of others living at that location. Do you think they will get the message then? Absolutely!

There is no need for mass deportations, random sweeps, or massive house-to-house searches. Arrest of just one individual will no doubt open a chain of others that should also be deported.

If these measures are put in place, our illegal alien population will shrink instead of grow. There will be some pain in the process and the pro immigration groups will no doubt protest loudly, but we can send the illegal aliens home on air conditioned, first class buses stocked with diapers, cold refreshments, and baby formula, to satisfy the most tender-hearted Americans. It will still be much cheaper than the way things are being handled right now.

It is often said, "A chair without four legs is not a chair. We must do these four basic things. This is a true and holistic immigration reform. If we implement such measures, as a unified nation, millions of illegal aliens will begin to leave the United States of America. Some will have to be helped on their way through deportation, but we do not have to deport all 20 million. We can accomplish a great deal of enforcement simply through attrition.

It has been pointed out that illegal aliens, in a sense, are migrants. This means they move from place to place. Those of us following this issue in the media have watched how illegal aliens chose states based on enforcement trends and benefits and how they start to leave a town when local officials crack down. Many of our illegal aliens will migrate back to the land they know if we implement these simple rules and send the correct message which is "Illegals Go Home! There is nothing here for you any longer!"

A good analogy to use is to imagine being in a boat that has numerous holes in the hull and is taking on water. Much like the U.S., the boat will remain afloat for a while but then pass a certain point where it starts to sink rapidly. Right now, we are taking on much more water than we are bailing out. We need to plug some of the holes to reduce the flow of water. Most importantly we need to identify those that have punched the holes in our boat and are standing there saying let's allow all of the water to stay in the boat and more to come in! These captains of doom need to be removed from political office, positions in the media, and positions of political influence. Otherwise we are going down as a nation for sure!

For this country to stay afloat we are going to have to sacrifice some time and effort in order to get the attention of our political leaders focused on the task at hand. Our parents and grandparents were willing to sacrifice their very lives in order to preserve our freedom. Surely we can at least spend some time for our freedoms and get busy contacting our politicians. Make so much noise over this that it is not going to be ignored.

The United States Senate and the United States Congress and even the White House have websites so you can email your representatives or even the President. A letter or a phone call is even more effective. Let them know we are paying attention to their actions and we do not want less security and more illegal aliens coming in. We want our country back and quickly before it is too late. We don't want to share our hard earned Social Security Benefits with those who have not earned them or with those who have broken our laws to get here.

As history shows, to preserve our freedoms, hard choices have to be made at times. It's well past time for those hard choices to be put in place. Lets get it done!
