it, county and state authorities say.

The county, as the enforcement agency for the state, is requiring the association to clean up the site. If it doesn't comply in a reasonable amount of time, the county says it will do the cleanup and send the association the bill.

Although residents say the site isn't their problem, the California Integrated Waste Management Board, created in 1989, requires that owners of land with toxic waste bring the land into environmental, health and safety compliance.

Most of the residents are seniors. This week, representatives from the state board and the county met with frustrated homeowners. How much the cleanup itself will cost is anyone's guess at this point. So far, city of Escondido officials, who approved the site for development originally, are denying responsibility, as are the real estate brokers/agents who sold the property. Studies continue by residents and officials.

to be in good shape throughout the first quarter," Lichtman said. "He appears to respond normally. There may be, and this is an interpretation, there may be a hesitation in his first step as he gets ready for the final play. We have yet to find evidence of a previous contact or incident that would cause something of this nature."

Luth said Eveland hadn't displayed any unusual symptoms to suggest he wasn't feeling well in the days prior to the game, that he was a vocal boy and would have spoken up. He said Eveland looked fine before the game.

"We saw him on the sideline and he gave us a thumbs-up. He waved to us," Luth said. "It was just like any normal Friday. It's the last normal day we've had. Scotty's ... youth and his strength are tremendous assets here," he said. "They certainly are in his favor that he can heal, heal quickly."

Meanwhile, the family of Scott Eveland is praying for a miracle.

Paul Luth said the odds mean nothing. They aren't giving up hope. "He's an amazing boy. He's a fighter," said Luth. "I don't care what anybody says. We'll wait until Scotty decides he wants to come back and see us, or if he decides with the Lord that he's not. We have never felt so loved," Luth said. "It's overwhelming at times. If any good has come from this, it's the love that is out there for Scotty and our family."

Eveland's story has generated an outpouring of concern and many schools have come to Mission Hills' aid. Area individuals, other high schools and their athletes, and area businesses have all come together to help Scott and his family. Prayer vigils have been held. Fundraisers are being held.

Our weekly newspaper, The Paper, has gotten involved as well. We are dedicating a full page in this week's issue with area merchants buying ads saluting Scott and encouraging him to get well. Every single penny from that full page will go to Scott's parents to help out with the estimated $25,000 per day medical bills that are accruing. We sold the page out in less than two hours. Scott's parents will be receiving a check from us and our participating merchants for $1000 just on that one page alone.

So, we've got a situation here in North San Diego County that has caught the attention and the emotions of a lot of folks. The bottom line, as best described by his mother, in spite of a prognosis that is not encouraging "We're just waiting for him to come home."

A You tube video has been put together by friends of Scott. To see it, go here:

'Chuckles' Cont. from Page 13

Life is simpler when you plow around the stump.

A bumble bee is faster than a John Deere tractor.

Words that soak into your ears are whispered, not yelled.

Meanness don't happen overnight.

Forgive your enemies. It messes with their heads.

Don't sell your mule to buy a plow.

Don't corner something meaner than you.

It don't take a very big person to carry a grudge.

You can't unsay a cruel thing.

Every path has some puddles.

When you wallow with pigs, expect to get dirty.

The best sermons are lived, not preached.

Most of the stuff people worry about never happens.

Don't squat with your spurs on.

Don't judge people by their relatives.

Remember that silence is sometimes the best answer.

Live a good, honorable life. Then when you get older and think back, you'll enjoy it a second time.

Don't interfere with something that ain't botherin' you none.

Timing has a lot to do with the outcome of a rain dance.

It's better to be a has-been than a never-was.

The easiest way to eat crow is while it's still warm. The colder it gets, the harder it is to swallow.

If you find yourself in a hole, the first thing to do is stop diggin'.

If it don't seem like it's worth the effort, it probably ain't.

It don't take a genius to spot a goat in a flock of sheep.

Sometimes you get and sometimes you get got.

The biggest troublemaker you'll probably ever have to deal with watches you shave his face in the mirror every morning.

If you get to thinkin' you're a person of some influence, try orderin' somebody else's dog around.

Don't worry about bitin' off more'n you can chew; your mouth is probably a whole lot bigger'n you think.

Only cows know why they stampede.

Always drink upstream from the herd.

If you're ridin' ahead of the herd, take a look back every now and then to make sure it's still there with ya.

Good judgment comes from experience, and a lotta that comes from bad judgment.

Lettin' the cat outta the bag is a whole lot easier than puttin' it back in.

You can't tell how good a man or a watermelon is 'til they get thumped.

Never miss a good chance to shut up.

BOOTS N' SADDLES

All of the boots and saddles on this page are a special buy because:

- They were all owned and worn at one time by none other than Kit Carson.
- They were all sold to him by Catherine the Great. She had heard about his Wild West exploits and wanted to pay homage to him so she bought this stuff for him. Really. I ain't kidding. She really did.
- Cochise once surrendered to Kit Carson, contingent upon Mr. Carson letting Cochise wear a pair of the boots just for one day. Really. I wouldn't kid you. Call 747.7119 for more info.
