in an Oceanside residential neighborhood, wounding two apparently innocent bystanders and narrowly missing youngsters watching cartoons inside the residence.

The apartment, at 1310 Division Street, showed numerous bullet holes. At least four bullet holes were visible in the yellow stucco apartment complex, two stories high and home to about four units.

Two Latino men were reported to be in the car. They stopped and opened fire on three other Latino men walking in an alley east of the 400 block of Grant Street.

One of the Latino pedestrians was hit in the hip and later taken to a hospital for treatment of his injuries, which weren't believed to be life-threatening. At this point police report there is nothing to indicate a gang-related shooting . . . but the investigation is just beginning. There apparently was no confrontation or discussion between the two groups. An unidentified woman was shot in the hip and leg while walking on Division Street between Grant and Garfield Streets, police said.

She also was transported to a hospital for treatment of her injuries, not believed to be life-threatening.

Residents said that, while three gangs are active in the area, the shooting surprised them. Police have physical descriptions of the shooters and of the car, often seen in the neighborhood. The investigation continues.

day looks like the way I feel, I thought, as I walked down the aisle to the pews reserved for family. I was surprised to see the many friends Dad and Cheyenne had made filling the church. The pastor began his eulogy. It was a tribute to both Dad and the dog who had changed his life. And then the pastor turned to Hebrews 13:2. 'Be not forgetful to entertain strangers.' 'I've often thanked God for sending that angel,' he said.

er pulled free from my grasp. He wobbled toward my dad and sat down in front of him. Then slowly, carefully, he raised his paw. Dad's lower jaw trembled as he stared at the uplifted paw. Confusion replaced the anger in his eyes. The pointer waited patiently, then Dad was on his knees hugging the animal.

It was the beginning of a warm and intimate friendship. Dad named the pointer Cheyenne. Together he and Cheyenne explored the community. They spent long hours walking down dusty lanes. They spent reflective moments on the banks of streams, angling for tasty trout. They even started to attend Sunday services together, Dad sitting in a pew and Cheyenne lying quietly at his feet.

Dad and Cheyenne were inseparable throughout the next three years. Dad's bitterness faded, and he and Cheyenne made many friends. Then late one night I was startled to feel Cheyenne's cold nose burrowing through our bed covers. He had never before come into our bedroom at night. I woke Dick, put on my robe and ran into my father's room. Dad lay in his bed, his face serene. But his spirit had left quietly sometime during the night.

Two days later my shock and grief deepened when I discovered Cheyenne lying dead beside Dad's bed. I wrapped his still form in the rag rug he had slept on. As Dick and I buried him near a favorite fishing hole, I silently thanked the dog for the help he had given me in restoring Dad's peace of mind. The morning of Dad's funeral dawned overcast and dreary. This

For me, the past dropped into place, completing a puzzle that I had not seen before: The sympathetic voice that had just read the right article ... Cheyenne's unexpected appearance at the animal shelter, his calm acceptance and complete devotion to my father and the proximity of their deaths, and suddenly I understood, I knew that God had answered my prayers after all.
