things into perspective. Your article is well researched and it is good to get the wake up call but there needs to be a counterpoint to the debate. I would appreciate a response. Saludos!

USA and Baja, Mex:

On Another Subject . . .

After revelling over the half billion dollar Sprinter, this Agency, which instigated and operates the Sprinter, along with the Coaster rail lines and Breeze bus network, is considering fare increases and eliminating at least a dozen bus routes. Somehow NCTD is sustained with a free pass to spend, control and jockey public transportation around to further it's own enlargement. The public's lack of concern for misguided priorities with no demand for accountability is incredible.

No More Poppies . . .

Perhaps if US invested in helping folks in Afghanistan grow a crop that is more profitable than Poppies - we could stop the drug trafficking and create financial stability in this country and then people would begin to have hope again and the Taliban's message of hate would not be so attractive....
