maintaining our clinical, technical and all of our support staff - 2,663 full time employees - a growth of over 240 in the last three years, while reducing managerial, administrative and clerical and non-patient care positions.

In a report to Wall Street last fall, PPH claimed . . . "As of June 30, 2007, the District employed approximately 2,700 productive full-time equivalent employees. Approximately 2,260 employees are full-time and 1,230 are part-time and per diem."

We continue to be profitable - we are not losing money. However, in order to continue our growth, investment in technology, recruit and retain highly trained physicians, nurses and support staff we had to make the difficult decision of restructuring some administrative positions.

The Paper is advised by reliably informed sources that among those laid off are the Nursing Director of the Operating Rooms for the district, the Radiology Manager, and the Business Manager at Escondido Surgery Center.

We are unclear as of this writing why there is such a wide variance between the official report of 86 layoffs and the 140 claimed by reliably informed sources within Palomar Pomerado.

We shall continue to investigate this story.

Tri-City Hospital Bond - Opposition Forms

Tri-City Hospital board members voted last month to call the special, all-mail election, which calls for voters to support a $589 million bond measure.

Not so fast, says Joe Brown, a former Tri-City Medical Center employee who led the fight against Tri-City's two other unsuccessful bond measures in 2006.

The election, scheduled for August of this year, will fail if Brown and his colleagues have anything to say about it.

In a mantra eerily similar to that chanted by supporters of the Palomar Pomerado Health District in support of Prop BB, Tri-City officials say they need the bond money to renovate and expand the hospital --- a massive project driven by a 2013 state-imposed deadline to retrofit or replace buildings that are vulnerable to earthquakes.

The money, they claim, would cover the essential parts of the hospital's $778 million construction master plan, officials have said. Other pieces of the project would be deferred. Again, similar to Prop BB claims.

Brown's fellow bond critic, Carlsbad resident Dr. Gary Gonsalves, said Tri-City should tighten its purse strings instead of putting another bond measure on the ballot.

The district's last two measures narrowly failed to get the required approval of two-thirds of the district's voters.

Voters will receive their ballots in late July and have until Aug. 26 to return them.

Mr. Bush has been provided with the outplacement services of Manpower, Inc. to help him write a resume and prepare for his upcoming job transition. According to Manpower, Mr. Bush may have difficulties in securing a new position due to a lack of any recent successful work experience. A greeter position at Wal-Mart was suggested due to Bush's extensive experience at shaking hands, as well as his special smile.
