Wednesday, but assured reporters the $60M Marriott Hotel project is not in jeopardy.

There is a new lender, questions about using redevelopment money for the developer's $11 million subsidy and other concerns were to be reexamined according to City Councilman Dick Daniels and Mayoral candidate. The hearing has been postponed to Oct. 7.

San Marcos City Council Considers Hiring Investment Firm

Should the San Marcos City council authorize the hiring of a professional firm to manage the city's investments? That was one of the questions on the agenda for Tuesday's evening meeting. At press time, we had not received an answer.

The council also got its first look at a proposed ordinance that would establish standards for the appearance and maintenance of San Marcos homes, businesses and other properties.

The San Marcos investment portfolio is currently worth about $150 million, according to City Finance Director Liliane Serio. Up to this point, her office has been managing the investments. Serio has said she and her staff believe the city could make more money on its investments if they were turned over to an outside investment manager who could focus on them full-time.

The value of many investment portfolios has dropped dramatically. The city is restricted by law to relatively conservative options such as a state investment pool and U.S. Treasury securities.

Under the proposal, the council will be asked to approve a five-year contract with Chandler Asset Management, with the company being paid based on a sliding scale tied to the portfolio's value at any given time. The city would have the right to cancel the proposed contract at any time, Serio said.

In another item considered by the council, a proposed property ordinance would provide a path for the city to deal with complaints about deteriorating property conditions or other alleged problems not covered by existing ordinances.

The proposed ordinance would require property owners to repair broken fences, gates and windows and maintain landscaping, among other things.

Violators could face penalties ranging from a written warning to a $1,000 fine on the fifth notice.

Many residents have praised the proposed ordinance, saying it will keep their neighborhoods looking nice. Critics have called the ordinance an example of Big Brother-type government.

The council is required by law to discuss the ordinance at least once more before enacting it. The ordinance would take effect 30 days after that.

Half a Million County Residents Do Not Have Health Insurance

New Census data show an economic squeeze on working families, an historic income drop and half a million San Diegans uninsured. The US Census Bureau counted the number of people without health insurance for the first time in 2008. The results are disheartening for San Diego County.

More than 500,000 people in San Diego have no health coverage at all, including 1 out of every 5 working-age adults.

"If 20% of working-age San Diegans have no health insurance, it's not just those individuals who are suffering-- it's families and children," said Corinne Wilson, CPI research analyst. "When people who are woefully under-insured are included, the picture is even more dismal. The employer-sponsored health insurance system is failing the people of San Diego. Clearly, we need reform."

Working-age San Diegans also have reason to complain about their paychecks.

Historically, median earnings either increase or, in bad years, stay flat. In 2008, median earnings for San Diego workers actually decreased by 3.51%.

The annual Census report released Monday includes only 2008 data, so the full effects of the recession on working families haven't been measured.

North County Fishing and Ocean Recreation at Risk

By: Assemblyman Martin Garrick

Next month, a state panel is set to release new rules regarding fishing and recreation off the North County coast that may restrict public access. I am extremely troubled by the potential economic impact these restrictions could have.

The Marine Life Protection Act, passed in 1999, is responsible for the new changes and seeks to implement a more consistent network of marine reserves throughout the state. Currently, a board that includes fishermen, divers, environmentalists, and scientists are meeting to discuss proposals that will either restrict fishing and recreation entirely or severely limit them. Areas that being considered for these restrictions include, Del Mar, Oceanside, Encinitas, and La Jolla.

Restricting access could have a devastating impact on these cities and erode the quality of life we have all come to enjoy in North County. For example, Del Mar Beach attracts two million visitors a year and is one of the primary economic engines for the community.

If you would like to weigh in on the issue please contact my Carlsbad office at (760) 929-7998. Assemblyman Martin Garrick for the 74th District. serves the communities of Carlsbad, Del Mar, Solana Beach, Encinitas, Rancho Santa Fe, San Marcos, Vista, and portions of San Diego, Escondido and Oceanside.

than the one in ACES, and investments in truly renewable sources of energy such as wind, solar, geothermal, and tidal power. While health care dominates domestic news and Afghanistan occupies us abroad, we cannot forget about the opportunity we have to repower our country and our economy, and at the same time make America safer, by passing a strong cap-and-trade bill through the Senate.
