heirloom vegetable seeds and am always trialing new seeds to compare and test. One part of my job that I'm passionate about is hunting down unusual heirloom seeds and trying new varieties in the garden. We also have a number of unusual fruit trees, as well as the common fruits you see often in the grocery stores.

At Morning Song, the ratio of fruit to vegetables changes each week.

In the orchard we have blackberries, fioja guavas, apples, peaches, plums, apricots, Mexican guavas, oranges, avocados, macadamias, and more. Supporters have to love being part of the ebb and flow of a local, just-picked harvest, as opposed to walking into a grocery store and buying off the shelf from near and far. We like to think that our supporters are more than vegetable/fruit buyers, but rather passionate, committed, Community Supported Agriculture participants. There's a big difference between a CSA supporter and a simple buyer of produce who wants to know how many pieces of fruit or veg-

Niel Diamond Tribute A Magnificent Show

David J. Sherry's
"Diamond is Forever"
Is Now Big Time

A review by hyle e davis

Stage discipline, stage presence, showmanship, great music, a great band, superb costumes, lighting, sound . . . everything fell into place last Saturday evening at the fantastic new Moonlight Amphitheatre in Vista.

Upon arrival at the amphitheatre we found the stage properly dressed, with all the band's instruments in place. Shortly, a brilliant keyboardist, Johnny Bruhns, came on stage . . . and begins to play the overture. As the overture builds, the other band members take their place, the backup singers take their place . . . the band joins in with the overture and, suddenly, with a flourish, there he is, Neil Diamond! With a dramatic entrance he takes the mike, greets the audience, and begins his show. From that moment on, the audience is his!

Only one thing. It isn't Neil Diamond. It's David J. Sherry, a master tribute artist who has captured the charisma of Neil Diamond, whose voice even sounds like Neil Diamond

The show is tightly produced and flows seamlessly from one song to the next with Sherry adopting the persona of Neil Diamond and giving the narrative background on many of the songs.

Just some of the inventory of songs include: I Am . . . I Said, Longfellow Serenade, Cracklin' Rosie, Holly Holy, Forever In Blue Jeans, Shilo, Play Me, Solitary Man, Song Sung Blue, Sweet Caroline, and in a beautiful duet, he and CeCe Taylor sang You Don't Bring Me Flowers. It was a show stopper.

Sherry works the audience and the ladies love it. On at least three songs he entered the audience and crooned to swooning ladies. A masterful piece of showmanship. Combine his tightly produced show with the absolutely beautiful new facility at Moonlight Amphitheater (complete with van shuttle service from the parking lot, another classy touch) and you have the makings for a most enjoyable evening of top notch entertainment.

To close out the evening, Sherry and his Neil Diamond Forever Band played and sung Brother Love's Travelin' Salvation Show . . . and the show was over!

Next time you hear about David J. Sherry's Diamond Is Forever Show appearing . . . Go! Run, do not walk, to buy tickets. You'll enjoy yourself. As we did.
