*Below, Hidden Valley Kiwanis
President Tim Cunning, Specialist
Christopher Leon, and Operation Hero Founder, Lyle Davis*

began Monday. Expert witnesses were called to testify. The hearing is expected to continue for several more days.

During the hearing a number of local and regional business leaders said they supported the project because it would add both business and environmental benefits. Others argued against the project, fearing contamination by carcinogens, cancer causing agents, would be released into the atmosphere.

NRG Energy, Inc., owners of the present 95-acre Encina site, said once the new power plant was in place they could tear down the existing power plant, thus freeing up the oceanfront property for further development.

The hearings continue. Interested parties may attend at the Hilton Gardens Inn on Carlsbad Boulevard, just south of Palomar Airport Road intersection. Those in attendance may listen but not comment on expert testimony.

Hidden Valley Kiwanis and "Operation Hero" Salutes Specialist Christopher Leon

This past Tuesday, Specialist Christopher Leon was honored as the Wounded Warrior saluted in the Hidden Valley Kiwanis Club's "Operation Hero" program. The program features a different Wounded Warrior once each quarter.

Specialist Leon was in over 100 combat missions in Iraq. He was a communications specialist on a mounted vehicle patrol when he was hit with and IED (Improvised Explosive Device). He eventually had to have his right leg amputated below the knee and now wears a prosthesis.

Senator Mark Wyland

State Senator Proudly Serving the 38th District of California

Government-Run Healthcare is Not the Solution

By Senator Mark Wyland

I am disappointed that last week legislators went beyond the extreme policies being discussed in Washington and passed a measure to create a government-run healthcare system for California.

To say that health care would improve under this program is simply incorrect. Countries that have adopted a "single-payer" plan experience the same result: health care is rationed, there are never enough doctors, waiting times for procedures from tests to surgery are lengthy and worsen our overall health care. Many treatments currently available would be withheld if the patient did not "qualify", for example, if they were "too old", as defined by some bureaucrat rather than the doctor. Instead, these patients often receive medication only, thus reducing their quality of life and often shortening their lives.

I believe that no Californian deserves this kind of poor, costly treatment. Instead, we should embrace sensible solutions that lower costs, expand consumer choice and improve the quality of our health care.

Senator Mark Wyland represents the people of the 38th Senate District, which includes cities in north San Diego County and the south Orange County cities of San Juan Capistrano.

California Democrats' Government Run Health Care Scheme is a Prescription for Economic Disaster

By Assembly Republican Leader Martin Garrick

Despite the fact that more than 2.25 million Californians are out-of-work and the state is facing a $20.7 billion deficit, Democrats in the California State Senate recently approved a $200 billion health care plan that would wreck our economy and kill thousands of jobs.

Their plan, Senate Bill 810 (Leno), would outlaw private health insurance and create a DMV-style agency to administer a "single-payer" health care system in California. The bill doesn't yet specify how the state will pay for it, but it is modeled after previous efforts that would have imposed payroll taxes of up to 16 percent on California's struggling job creators.

We've been down this path before, as the voters repealed a similar scheme (SB 2) in 2003 and Governor Schwarzenegger vetoed a nearly identical plan (SB 840) in 2008. In fact, the Governor vowed to veto the latest plan if it comes across his desk.

Instead of wasting time reviving flawed government run healthcare schemes, lawmakers should work together to put California jobs first. With our economy under extreme duress, we must encourage employers to stay here rather than moving out of state. Californians need a government that values job creation and economic recovery, not a new state run health care bureaucracy.

Carlsbad Hearing on Power Plant Draws Turnaway Crowd

At one point, fire officials had to turn away people who had come to listen and/or speak at the hearing dealing with the proposed new power plant.

The power plant, slated to be located on the eastern edge of the Carlsbad Encina Power Station, was discussed at a state-sponsored public hearing that drew in excess of 300 persons. Observers said there appeared to be more opponents than proponents to the plan.

At times it almost took on the atmosphere of an old-time melodrama with boos and hisses as well as cheers for those who spoke against the plant.

The 558-megawatt plant falls under the authority of the state Energy Commission, who scheduled the hearing, which
